Chapter

The Adventure Begins!

Once upon a time, in a little village surrounded by trees and flowers, there lived a girl named Little Red Riding Hood. She always wore a bright red cloak with a hood, just like the colour of a ripe apple.

One sunny morning, Little Red Riding Hood's mom said, "Sweetie, Grandma is feeling a bit sick.

Would you take her some yummy treats in this basket?"

"Sure, Mom!" Little Red exclaimed with a smile. She packed the basket with warm bread, juicy fruits, and a jar of honey, put on her red cloak, and off she went, skipping happily.

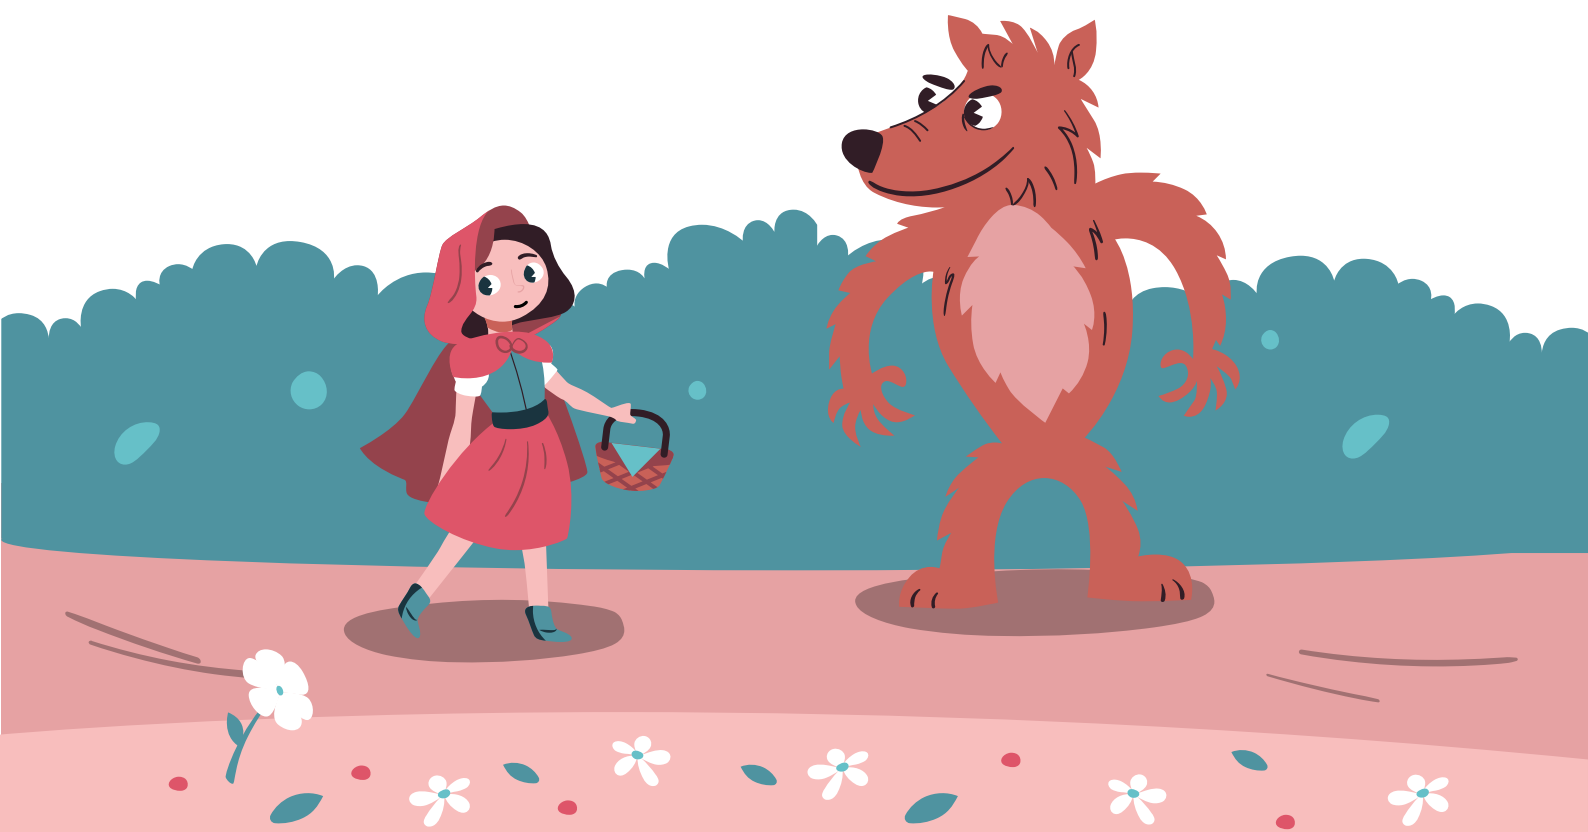

"Remember, stick to the path and be careful," her mom reminded her.

"I will, Mom!" Little Red promised, her eyes twinkling with excitement.

Chapter

A Surprising Encounter

As Little Red Riding Hood wandered through the forest, she saw colourful flowers and heard birds singing sweetly. It felt like a magical place! Suddenly, a friendly voice called out, "Hello there! Where are you off to?"

Little Red peeked through the trees and saw a big wolf with kind eyes. "I'm going to visit my grandma. She's not feeling well, so I'm taking her some goodies." The wolf nodded, looking interested. "Where does your grandma live?"

Little Red thought for a moment. "Oh, she lives in a cozy cottage on the other side of the woods, near a big oak tree."

"Thank you, little one. Have a safe journey!" the wolf said warmly before disappearing into the trees.

Feeling happy, Little Red continued her way, humming a tune.

Chapter

The Brave Farmer to the Rescue!

When Little Red Riding Hood reached her grandma's cottage, she knocked gently on the door. "Come in, dear," her grandma's voice called out.

Inside, Little Red found her grandma in bed, looking tired but happy to see her. "I've brought you some treats to make you feel better, Grandma!"

Her grandma smiled gratefully. "Thank you, my dear. You're so thoughtful."

As Little Red unpacked the goodies, she noticed something strange.
"Grandma, why do you have such big ears?"

"All the better to hear you with, my dear," her grandma replied with a twinkle in her eye.

"And why do you have such big eyes?" Little Red asked.
"All the better to see you with, my dear," her grandma chuckled.

Finally, Little Red noticed the fox-like nose and sharp teeth. "And why do you have such big teeth?"

With a wicked grin, the fox revealed himself. "All the better to eat you with, my dear!" he snarled, lunging towards Little Red.

The fox had cunningly disguised himself as Little Red Riding Hood's grandma, tying her up and hiding her in the closet while he lay in wait for Little Red. But before the fox could reach her, a brave farmer burst into the cottage, brandishing his pitchfork.

"Get away from her, you sneaky fox!" he shouted, chasing the fox out of the cottage and deep into the woods.

Safe and sound, Little Red hugged her grandma tightly. "I'm so glad you're okay, Grandma!"

Her grandma chuckled. "I'm fine, dear. That clever fox tried to trick us, but luckily the brave farmer was here to save the day."

Little Red Riding Hood thanked the farmer with a grateful smile, knowing she would always remember to be cautious and never talk to strangers.

With that important lesson learned, Little Red Riding Hood and her grandma enjoyed the treats together, happy to be together once more. And from that day on, they always stayed safe and happy in their cozy little cottage in the woods.
